

PRESS RELEASE

3C Market Report offers Insights into the Carbon Market

The 3C Market Report provides weekly information on price developments, trade volumes and influencing factors of the carbon market as well as on political events and the developments on the CDM/JI market in three languages.

Bad Vilbel, July 16, 2007 - The 3C Market Report not only has a new layout, but it is now available free of charge to the public. Interested persons can register on the website of 3C Group to receive the weekly report. Furthermore, additional versions in English and Polish are available now. On the Polish market, the 3C Market Report is the first of its kind to provide background information and analyses on the carbon trading market.

The 3C Market Report consists of two parts: The first part provides information about the most important events within the EU Emissions Trading Scheme, the market development, prices, volumes, and it critically examines market influencing factors, such as fundamental data (energy, coal, gas, economic cycle) or political events.

The second part of the report supplies information about the flexible mechanisms. It covers developments in project countries and regions, such as India, South America and Asia, decisions about methodologies or other political regulations (CDM Executive Board, JI Supervisory Committee). In addition, the report addresses larger projects or project proposals. The last page provides contact information of liaisons within each 3C division, who are available for further background information about the respective topics.

Further supplements will be published twice a month. On the one hand, they will feature background information on interrelated incidents or current events, such as the EU Climate Summit or the decisions on the German ZUG 2012. On the other hand, the supplements will report on projects and conferences on climate neutrality.

By providing such a report, 3C Markets AG intends to develop more transparency in the dynamic market of emissions certificates, and to keep the businesses affected by the EU Emission Trading Schemes, investors, and the media updated on the current situation and provide an outlook on prospective developments.

The Market Report is published weekly. The German report is released on Tuesdays and the English and Polish versions are released on Wednesdays.
